Description:	AHRC-New York City offers a unique opportunity at our summer camp programs. The camps provide a chance not only to work with individuals who have developmental disabilities but also to meet, socialize with, and work with people from many different countries. The facilities are a rare setting in which workers can make friends with people from around the world. Most staff are working towards careers in health care fields such as psychology, nursing, special education, social work, medicine and nursing.
